In connection with your application and the ensuing process (“Application Process”), we will collect and process your Data. Such Data includes all information contained in your curriculum vitae, diploma, personal statement, job references and any other documents you may provide us with in the course of the Application Process. We may further process all information that you reveal to us during job interviews. For certain positions, we require our applicants to take computer based tests, the results of which will be processed. If we, with your prior approval, contact your references (e.g. former supervisors, university lecturers, teachers), we may also process the information obtained by such references.

The Data we typically obtain and process in the course of the Application Process includes, but is not limited to, your name, application photo (if any), residential and email addresses, telephone number, place and date of birth, gender, nationality, immigration status, marital status, your academic education, professional training and experience, previous employers (including periods of employment), former, current and envisaged functions, work hours, salary (including bonus and other salary components), criminal and debt records, career objectives, information on directorships, non-vocational activities or other external mandates (e.g. lectureships). Where necessary, we may also process Data regarding your state of health (e.g. possible physical disabilities). Finally, we will also process all evaluations of your eligibility, whether elaborated by us or obtained by third parties (e.g. references), whether based on interviews, documentation and/or results of computer based tests.

Purposes and legal basis of our use of your Data

We collect and process your Data for the purpose of evaluating your eligibility. If we enter into an employment contract with you, we will also process your Data to prepare the respective contract. In case of unsolicited applications, we may use your Data in order to regularly screen our internal database for possible matches with vacant positions. Since we process your Data following your job application, we deem our processing activities to be at your request and in view of entering into an employment contract with you.

As a financial services provider, we operate in a regulated, highly competitive and increasingly complex environment. In order to remain a leading market player, we rely on highly qualified and motivated employees who share our values of integrity, honesty and sustainability. We therefore have a legitimate interest in thoroughly scrutinizing all of our applicants. Besides reviewing your documentation and conducting interviews, we may use computer based tests in order to establish your suitability in greater detail. If we deem such test to be necessary, you will be previously informed and the results of such test will be discussed with you afterwards. Some positions allow access to highly sensitive information such as data of private banking clients. In such cases, we may schedule an additional interview with an external expert in order to establish your eligibility for the job. You will be informed in good time if such additional interview is envisaged. We will seek to obtain your explicit consent where GDPR requires us to do so (e.g. prior to contacting your job references or processing your health data).

To whom we transfer your Data

In the course of the Application Process, we will transfer your Data to the line manager and other superiors of the team or department you applied for. We may also disclose your Data or parts thereof to other persons you would be working with on a regular basis (e.g. co-workers). Furthermore, we may transfer your Data to categories of recipients such as external service providers (e.g. for evaluation of computer based tests) and external advisers (e.g. in case of additional interviews for sensitive positions). We may also share your Data with other LGT Companies, particularly with the HR departments of such LGT Companies.

LGT has operations throughout the world. Therefore, the abovementioned recipients of your Data may be located outside of the EEA in which case we will ensure that adequate safeguards with regard to data protection such as model contract clauses approved by the European Commission are in place.

If the Application Process leads to the conclusion of an employment contract between you and an LGT Company, we shall continue to store your Data in accordance with a separate Privacy Notice for employees which will be provided to you in the course of the onboarding process. In all other cases, we will delete your Data upon conclusion of the Application Process, unless you agree to our continued storage of your Data (e.g. in order to consider your dossier for future job opportunities). Furthermore, we may keep your Data for a period exceeding the abovementioned term where our continued use of your Data is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.
